

The Michigan political campaign has reached the interesting stage of alternating doldrums and jitters.

Encouraged by public opinion polls, Michigan Republican leaders have been cocksure and confident of a G. O. P. landslide in November. Every now and then, until "inside information" recently arrived, always from persons who should know, to the effect that Republican popularity is ebbing fast. Governor Kim Sigler's re-election is in great doubt, so it is said. President Truman will get support of labor, and so on.

Some voters have even wondered who is running for governor on the Democratic ticket: Mennen, Williams, or Attorney General Eugene C. Black. Black has been stealing anti-administration headlines in the press with persistent regularity.

Call for a constitutional convention, five proposed amendments to the constitution and one referendum will also come before Michigan voters in November.

Disinterest exists at present regarding changes. Yet the proposals are far-reaching, and they merit thoughtful consideration.

Should a constitutional convention be called to recommend revision of the state constitution? That's the question submitted by the state legislature for voters' decision this fall. The present constitution, effective Jan. 1, 1909, has been amended 44 times. Fifty-two proposed amendments were defeated.

The present constitution, as amended, diverts sales tax to schools. It freezes gasoline tax revenues for highway use. It requires uniform taxation, a bar to a scaled state income tax. For these reasons, among others, opposition to a new convention is well organized.

No. 1 of the proposed constitutional amendments would define the order of succession of state officials, as follows: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and auditor general. This order of succession would prevail in any vacancy which might occur following election of a governor.

No. 2 of the proposed amendments is the controversial repeal of sales tax diversion. Such diversion was approved by a majority of voters two years ago under a campaign sponsored jointly by cities and school teachers. Cutting a deep hole in state finances, the tax diversion amendment is benefiting public schools, cities and townships.

Unless this amendment is repealed, the legislature is likely to enact new or higher taxes to offset an inevitable deficit. One plan is a 5-cent sales tax.

School teachers and city employees are campaigning to defeat repeal of the amendment. They have a pocketbook interest in the outcome.

No. 3 amendment on the ballot would permit the legislature to fix compensation of the governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor general and attorney general.

At present, the 1909 constitution sets their salaries at sums so low the legislature has had to authorize "extraordinary" pay for governor and administrative board salaries for other state officials. The 1909 salary limits are obviously inadequate and obsolete. Deputies of state officials receive more compensation than do their bosses.

No. 4 amendment would remove the $3 daily salary of members of the state legislature and it would permit legislators to fix salaries for the next term of office.

The fifth proposed amendment would liberalize the present 15-mill limitation of real estate taxes by authorizing the following: Exceeding from 5 to 20 years the period for which millage might be raised from 15 mills to 50 mills; decreasing the two-thirds majority to a simple majority.

The referendum concerning the Calhoun act, adopted by the 1947 legislature, which provides for regulation and registration of foreign agents. This law was aimed at Communist agitators. The referendum was sponsored by "left-wing" elements.

In less than three weeks these issues will come before voters for decision.

The deadline is approaching fast.

Michelson Memorial Church School Notes

Nearly a hundred members of church school families enjoyed the potluck Family Night supper at the church last Wednesday evening. After full justice had been done to the hostesses, Mr. Puffer introduced all the teachers and officers of the school, the Brownies, sponsored by the school, took a bow, and the members of the Primary Department sang "Praise Him, Praise Him." A period of community singing was led by Don Gottho and Thomas Stancil, with Mrs. Tom Robertson at the piano. The program for the evening concluded with the distribution of attendance awards earned during the year which ended the last Sunday in September. A second quarter award was presented to Eileen Horning, third quarter pins went to Georgianna

New Pins Slow Bowlers

A brand new set of pins and new alleys slowed down both Maxwell Insurance and the Detroit Gasket squads as they rolled 3 games in match play for total pins at Spike's Recreation here last Saturday night.

The Detroit Gaskets were victors over the Insurancemen with a slight 23 pin lead. The Gaskets won the first two games by margins of 65 and 39 pins respectively but dropped the last game by 82 pins as the Maxwell Insurance squad rolled the best team score of the night — a 975 game, with Jack Di Giovanni getting high single game of the evening, a 214.

Ten splits were picked up for markers during the evenings three games of bowling by the members of the two Motor City League teams. George Lukach picked up three two pin splits in the first game alone. Those watching the matches were impressed by the bowling skill of the Detroiters although they didn't roll scores as high as was expected.

A member of the Insurance team whom has had plenty of experience in American Bowling Congress tournaments said that the rolling on the new Spike's Recreation alleys set with brand new pins was exactly the same as bowling in the ABC matches.

Emil Dimitric of the Gaskets rolled the high series of the match, putting together games of 180-201-179 for a total pinfall of 802. Scores of the other bowlers were as follows: Maxwell Insurance — Walter Reppenhagen 184-188-191 — 541; Harold Allen 158-180-198 — 536; Jack Di Giovanni 161-204-214 — 579; George Lukach 178-180 — 358; Tom Rooney 211-190-190 — 591. Gaskets — Roger Overmyer, 191-158-151 — 500; Stan Stanulis 179-181-188 — 548; Walter Pokrywka 198-201-185 — 584; Cy Koralczyk 198-201-179 — 579.

Taking the total pins rolled by both teams for the entire three games of 5,530 pins, it gives the average game bowled for the entire evening of almost 185 pins. While 185 pins is not a high game, it is a good average for ten-bowlers rolling three games.

Members of the two teams and their wives were entertained at dinner at Shoppenagons Inn before the matches by Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacNeven.

School Elects Class Officers

In one of the best organized school elections in years, the members of the 7th through 12th grades of Grayling High School elected their class officers last Thursday.

The election was handled by a committee consisting of Jack Richardson, Marjorie Nelson, Robert Lozon and Sara Smith. Bruce Smith, civics class instructor, advised and aided the committee. The election was handled along lines comparable to a national vote and the ballots were described as the best ever used at the school. Only one ballot was eliminated from the counting as "no good" which is a far better score than is boasted of by the adult voters.

Following are the officers elected for the 1948-49 school year:

12th Grade — President, R. Brady; vice president, A. Peterson; secretary, J. Corwin; treasurer, L. MacNamara; student council, C. Hanson.

11th Grade — President, J. Feldhauser; vice president, M. Jensen; secretary, N. Hoels; treasurer, V. Papendick; student council, C. LaMotte.

10th Grade — President, B. Mathe-wson; vice president, L. Nolan; secretary, E. Katin; treasurer, A. Holm; student council, J. Bond.

9th Grade — President, J. Baker; vice president, C. Johnson; secretary, M. Sorenson; treasurer, S. Gross; student council, E. Kubic.

8th Grade — President, J. Burich; vice president, R. Luzaitch; secretary, B. Stephan; treasurer, R. McEvers; student council, S. Bishop.

7th Grade — President, S. Jensen; vice president, L. Thompson; secretary, S. Borchers; treasurer, R. Kessler; student council, C. Hatfield.

Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

One of the most impressive weddings of the year occurred at St. Mary's Church Saturday at 10 o'clock in the morning when Miss Geneva Avery, became the bride of Thomas Edgar Douglas, III.

The church was lovely with arrangements of gladioli as bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Avery of Elmira, Michigan was escorted to the altar by her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Nancy Cox. The Rev. Fr. John Breitenstein officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass.

A floral design on heavy lace was on the high necked bodice of the bride's gown accenting the line of her head the bride joining the satin sleeves. These were long and ended with points over the hands. The fitted bodice extended into a floor length skirt which led into a circular train. A cap of lace held the bride's hair in a tulle lace veil. Small clusters of orange blossoms centered the cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with gladioli and baby breath and a white Bible.

Miss LaVerne Avery, sister of the bride, maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of dusty rose taffeta fashioned with an off the shoulder neckline and puffed sleeves and a bonnet of blue tulle and three quarter length gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink roses centered with gladioli and baby breath.

Charles Avery, brother of the bride, assisted the groom as best man. The guests were seated by Carl Schumann of Detroit, cousin of the bride.

The bride is a 1948 graduate of Grayling High School and is employed at Bear Archery Company. The groom, the son of Mrs. R. F. Neafie of Grayling and Edgar Douglas of Lovells is a graduate of Grayling High School, class of 1947 and is also employed at the Archery Company.

A wedding reception was given Tuesday evening at the Michelson Memorial Church to attend church services in a body. The club observes a Kiwanis Sunday each year.

AKERS-DUNCAN VOWS SPOKEN

Miss Fern Lucille Akers, daughter of Perry Akers and the late Mrs. Akers and Raymond Duncan, son of Mrs. Lawrence Duncan of Adrian and the late Mr. Duncan, were united in marriage in a single ring ceremony performed at the bride's home on October 2 at 2 P. M. Rev. R. C. Puffer officiated before an assortment of gladioli arranged to resemble an altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a medium blue wool street length dress and a corsage fashioned of gladioli, mums and gladioli. The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Don Akers was matron of honor and was also attired in a light blue wool dress and wore a corsage of red roses. Richard Duncan served his brother as best man.

Fifty-five guests witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception held at the bride's home following the wedding after which the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The bride attended the Grayling schools and was employed at Sales Store before her wedding. Mr. Duncan attended the Adrian schools and is employed as an assembly operator at the Kalvinator Company in Adrian.

The couple are at home to their friends at 1320 Michigan Avenue, in Adrian.

Record Tax Yield Seen As By-Product Of Oil Progress

Michigan has reaped a golden harvest in gasoline tax revenues as an important "by-product" of the tremendous job done by the petroleum industry in satisfying the unprecedented post-war demand for motor fuel.

This was pointed out by Mr. William Palmer, Executive Secretary of the Michigan Petroleum Industries Committee, in a statement issued in conjunction with "Oil Progress Day" (Thursday, October 14). On this day the Oil Industry is reporting to the communities of America on its progress in serving their needs.

"With the end of the war, the Oil Industry undertook a gigantic expansion program to meet an amazing increase in the demand for petroleum products," Mr. Palmer said. "Evidence of this industry's success lies in the fact refineries today process enough gasoline to meet a consumer demand more than 30 per cent greater than pre war peaks."

"Michigan is profiting handsomely as a result of the Oil Industry's success. Because of the industry's achievement, the 3 cents per gallon state gasoline tax shower snatches of power in their win over the Ironmen and Coach Joe Bogart said there was no doubt but that Grayling could defeat East Jordan if the boys would play a full game against the invaders as they did on occasions against Mancelona.

"I think that the team has finally found themselves and they are all set to roll against East Jordan," Coach Bogart said.

Although playing ragged ball during much of the game, the Wave produced periods of power both on defense and offense to score two touchdowns and hold Mancelona scoreless. The first half proved to be a back and forth affair with Mancelona doing most of the running. Grayling halted the Ironmen's offense on their own twenty and after a bad play, Claude Parkinson fumbled with Mancy recovering. A score by the Ironmen seemed sure, but the Grayling line dug in and held the visitors for downs. In the early part of the second quarter, Tom Anthony intercepted a Mancelona pass and carried it back to the invader's forty. The next play quarterback Jack Trudeau passed to Anthony for a 12 yard gain and the Wave finally went over for the score from the one foot line. Anthony made the extra point on a reverse with Parkinson feeding him the ball.

Again in the second half, Mancelona seemed to be on the way, changing their offense from right to left they ran the end and rolled down the field. Grayling finally held them for downs, however, and punted out of danger. Early in the fourth quarter Worden fumbled with the Ironmen recovering, but Mancelona unable to make a first down in three attempts elected to run the ball instead of kicking on fourth down. An alert Grayling defense stopped them short of the needed yardage.

Following two running plays, Trudeau clipped a running pass to end Ernie Miller for Grayling's second six pointer. The attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful. One of the bright spots of the Mancelona fray was the punting and line bucking of Bill Worden, who made his first appearance in the fullback slot, having been switched to the backfield from the center post last week. The shift seems to have proved successful, and added drive to the Grayling offense that they have lacked this season. Worden still has lots to learn about running and about carrying the ball. With work on his part, however, he should develop into a really fine fullback as he has worlds of natural ability. Trudeau looked good in his new position of quarterback and the manner in which the formation sets up he can either run or punt from his position which adds greatly to the Wave's scoring threat.

Although there were some good points about the victory, yet there were bad spots that kept Grayling in the hot seat. The only exception for Miller's catch for a score, was rather weak. Blocking and tackling at times during the game was at the season's lowest ebb. With the amount of material Grayling trotted on the field Friday afternoon, the exhibition was not good. Tackling should have been at an all time high. Unless the team gets the fundamentals down pat, it is feared that other defeats are in the offing.

Bad weather has interfered with practice this week, but Coach Bogart insists that the blocking will be of the "knock down" variety this week end and not of the "lean-on 'em" attitude of last week.

this year will set a record in its yield of funds. Returns thus far indicate our gasoline tax will boost the 1948 receipts higher than the previous record year of 1947 when $39,182,000 was collected," he continued.

"Since gasoline taxes collected in Michigan are used for highway purposes, the Oil Industry's progress has a double meaning for the motorists: (1) an adequate supply of motor fuel, and (2) more money for road improvement without higher taxes," he said.

"Although we will have more money for roads during the next few years in Michigan than ever before during an equal span of years, serious shortages of equipment, materials and manpower still exist, shortages obstructing immediate progress in road building not only in Michigan but throughout the nation.

"Tax money that motorists pay for roads which can not be built now ought to be accumulated for future use. Then, when short ages ease and costs drop, we can look forward to the greatest program of road and street improvement that we've ever seen in Michigan," he concluded.

ZION LEAGUE NEWS

Sunday evening, October 3rd, the Zion's League met at the Jensen home at Hartwick Pines to elect new officers for the ensuing year. The new officers are: President, Bob Sunday; vice president, John Stephan; secretary, Cynthia Stephan; worship chairman, Howard Babbitt; study chairman, Betty Mathewson; service chairman, Earl Jensen; recreation chairman, Pat Stephan. Pastor Roy Newberry appointed Tressa Stephan leader and Bernard Fowler assistant leader. It was decided to have our installation ceremony at Kyle Lake on Sunday, October 10th. Mrs. Jensen served apples and home made fudge for refreshments. Our worship program for October called for a camp fire installation of officers, so we all went to Kyle Lake, where each officer launched a little boat with a lighted candle in each upon the water and watched them drift far out into the lake, thus showing how our feeble light may shine as we go forward in our work. This was a very impressive ceremony and held the rapt attention of all those present until the last candle was out of sight. Each officer had his part to say as they launched their candles and appropriate songs were sung by the group. Pastor Roy Newberry gave a short talk as the boats were drifting out away from shore. The paper boats and candles and each officer's part typed were all prepared in advance by the worship chairman, Howard Babbitt. After the ceremony everyone enjoyed roasting weenies over the campfire. We will meet at Bob Sunday's home next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Betty Mathewson, study chairman, will be in charge.

It's Been Tried Before

Some years ago Mary C. Lacy an employee of the Department of Agriculture, wrote a little study called "Food Control During Forty-six Centuries—a Contribution to the History of Price Fixing." It has recently been reprinted, and it should be required reading for anyone who still thinks that the government, by fiat, can successfully control the distribution of goods and the prices at which they are sold.

Attempts at food control are almost as old as history. It started in Egypt in 2800 B. C., and the end result was a system of land tenure under which the land became the personal property of the king. It was tried in China and Athens and Rome. Much later on it was revived in England, Belgium and other countries, always with a singular lack of success. And, though few Americans know it, price-fixing was attempted in this country during the colonial era, and totally failed to remedy the problem it was supposed to cure.

As Miss Lacy sums the matter up, "The history of government limitations of price seems to teach one clear lesson: That in attempting to ease the burdens of the people in a time of high prices by artificially setting a limit to them, the people are not relieved but only exchange one set of ills for another which is greater."

When price control was tried four thousand years ago it led to a decline in production, to withholding of goods from a market which was no longer profitable, and to a raging black market. It did exactly the same thing here when it was continued for a time after the last war. Only a free enterprise economy, in which manufacturers, farmers and retailers must compete for business, can produce abundance. And only free competition, all the way from the source of raw materials to the stores in which finished goods are sold, can establish a price which is fair, and is based upon the going cost of doing business.

Nurse Executive Speaks Here

"Unless the same careful planning goes into the staffing of Michigan hospitals that is going into their expansion, the average patient will get less care than he does now," warned Hulda Edman, R. N., Lansing executive secretary of the Michigan State Nurses Association.

She addressed a meeting of the Grayling District at Grayling Thursday evening, September 30. "No matter how many beds are provided, each one that is occupied requires service by some combination of professional and practical nurses, ward maids, orderlies, and attendants," she pointed out. "The nurse shortage is actually a shortage of all these employees. If their numbers and quality are to keep pace with the expansion of buildings, it will require the most skillful handling of personnel relations."

Hospitals which have enough capable executives to plan a wise division of duties among various types of employee, and which earnestly desire to provide good working conditions, are having the least trouble in filling their positions, she declared.

"Nurses are human beings, as well as members of a profession dedicated to the health of the community," she stated. "Rising prices affect them just like other people. Nurses get tired, they want a chance to do good nursing, they need time for rest and for social life. They want a voice in the assignment of their duties and the conditions under which they work, whether in hospitals, public health agencies, industries, or private homes."

Staff councils, through which nurses can voice their own desires to the management and can in turn learn to share more of management's problems, were urged by Miss Edman as one measure to make nurses happier on their jobs.

"Practical nurses are an important part of the nursing team," she continued. "Michigan now has seven training centers, with a capacity for giving 600 new students annually a year's preparation, and we have nearly 1,000 experienced practical nurses who have met the requirements for membership in the Michigan Practical Nurses Association. It will become easier to recruit and train practical nurses when their status is clearly defined by law and when those who are qualified are protected against the use of the same title by the untrained. Efforts to provide a state licensing law for practical nurses are now under way in order that the public may be protected."

Opportunities for young women to enter nursing have never been more attractive, Miss Edman declared. At the same time, competition of other occupations has never been heavier except during the war.

"Michigan nurses are actively recruiting young women for schools of both professional and of practical nursing," said the speaker. "In fact, we challenge any other group to show a better record of bringing qualified young people into their occupation. With the help of hospital administrators, physicians, and industry community leaders, we are getting more new students this year than last. But if we are to recruit them, hold them until graduation, and then keep them active in nursing, we need the understanding and help of the public."

Miss Edman, a graduate of the University of Minnesota School of Nursing, has done hospital, office, active in nursing, we need the understanding and help of the public. She has been connected for the past two years with the state nurses association, an organization with nearly 7,000 members. Together with the Michigan League of Nursing Education, Michigan State Organization for Public Health Nursing, and Michigan Practical Nurses Association, it is federated in the Michigan Nursing Center Association, the only organization of its kind in the United States.

SHORT STORY

The Master Mind

By G. K. HEINTZMAN

SAM SHAPIRO was down to his last two bits. As he walked away from the poolhall he tilted his hat down over one eye and muttered unkind words about all poolplayers and their descendants down to the third generation. Into Sam's fertile mind came the 64-dollar question: How was he going to hoist the two bits into a decent roll?

Sam didn't know exactly. Yet somehow he had always managed to stay in the dough, right from the days when he used to shoot marbles with the boys until later in life when he graduated to the poolroom. Sam attributed his success to his great ideas. He also held the firm opinion that everything in this world was a racket.

Sam pushed up his hat and scratched his noggin. Idea No. 1 was to drop over to Joe's lunch room and meditate on ways and means. Idea No. 2 was to put what-ever he ate on the cuff.

Sam smiled. He took the quarter from his pocket and began flipping it in the air. Just as he passed the Banker's Trust building he missed a catch and the coin fell. Before he could recover it a strange hand darted out from one side and picked it up. Sam turned quickly and saw a pleasant-faced beggar with a tin cup, sitting on the bank steps. "You missed the cup, sir," the beggar said smilingly, "but I don't mind reaching—not for a quarter."

SAM'S EYES popped. He stared at the beggar. Only a fool would try to snatch two-bits from a beggar's tin cup on a busy street. He wished it was dark.

Sam scratched his noggin but all was quiet. The beggar's cheery voice spoke again. "You seem to be thinking, son," he said. "Will you tell me your name?"

"Sam Shapiro," Sam snapped. He hadn't thought of an angle on how to get his quarter back. He was mad.

"Sam Shapiro is a nice name." There was a strange quality about the beggar's voice. But Sam was not one to appraise matters like that. He even failed to notice that the beggar had produced a check book and fountain pen and had started to write. He tore off a check made out to Sam Shapiro $100. He handed it to Sam. "Don't ask me the reason, son," he said. "Just walk into the bank and cash it. It's good."

Sam took a squint at the check and his eye riveted on the signature. He saw idea No. 3 right there in that signature. Everybody knew that E. Wilson Dodds was presdent of Banker's Trust. And already Sam could see Mr. Dodds' face when he informed him that a screwball beggar was outside handing out checks with Mr. Dodds' signature. It should be good for a five-spot at least.

INSIDE the bank, Sam stepped up to a cage marked "Paying Teller" and held out the check significantly. "I'd like to see Mr. Dodds about this."

"Mr. Dodds is out," said the teller. He took the check with a courteous smile. "It won't be necessary to see Mr. Dodds about this," he said. "If you can identify yourself I'll cash it for you."

Sam gasped. He couldn't figure out the game. Nevertheless they weren't going to catch him napping. "I'm not trying to cash this check, pal," he said. "I'm only trying to inform you that there is a screwball outside writing checks with Mr. Dodds' signature on them."

The teller laughed out loud. "It's quite all right, sir. That was Mr. Dodds! He often wondered if there was such a thing as charity in this modern world. So today he put on that disguise and decided to give $100 to the first 10 people to have 'it' on him. And let me congratulate you, sir! You are the first person to cash a check!"
